

City of San Diego's Production of Documents Pertaining to Soledad Mountain Road
October 10, 2007

The documents contained on this disc are being produced by the City in the interest of full disclosure and transparency so that the public can have access to the same documents as City officials.

Since the events of October 3, 2007, the City has conducted a diligent search for any documents and related materials generated during the months leading up to the landslide. Within this disc are documents covering the time period of July 18, 2007, to the present. There may be additional documents generated during this time. City staff has been directed to continue to look for additional documents and materials. As these become available, the City will promptly produce them.

The vast majority of the documents contained on this disc consist of email correspondence between City staff. These emails should not be taken out of context, and no conclusions should be drawn from them.

The enclosed timeline is not meant to be an exhaustive history of the events pre-dating October 3, 2007. Rather, its purpose is to serve as a road map to navigate through the documents being produced today.
